

Insights from innovation

What have we learned from rapid adjustments to curriculum, learning and teaching made in response to the COVID-19 global pandemic?

Join colleagues from four Queensland University Medical Schools for an interactive Symposium and reflection on the insights gained during this unprecedented time.

The Symposium will feature keynote speaker, Executive Dean of The University of Queensland's Faculty of Medicine, Professor Geoff McColl, as well as a panel of experts and breakout room activities in which you will have the opportunity to share your own insights from innovation.

This event is an opportunity for Faculty colleagues to share experiences of making rapid adjustments necessary to keep programs running, and to reflect on the question: How can we work together to optimise impact through evolution in medical education?

Date: Friday, 21 August 2020
